ABOUT US

HOST INSTITUTE

The All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Raebareli was established as an institution of national importance to provide high-quality medical education, research, and healthcare services.

All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) at Raebareli in Uttar Pradesh was approved in February, 2009 under Phase-II of Pradhan Mantri Sawasthya Suraksha Yojana (PMSSY).

The institute is committed to providing world-class medical education, research opportunities, and advanced healthcare services.

AIIMS Raebareli has a rapidly expanding healthcare infrastructure with multiple specialized and super-specialized departments. Its associated hospitals provide comprehensive medical care to patients from Uttar Pradesh and neighbouring regions. The institute is equipped with state-of-the-art facilities, including a modern medical research center, high-tech laboratories, and simulation-based training centers.

Department of Community Medicine AIIMS RAEBARELI

ORGANIZING

The Department of Community Medicine was founded with the vision of strengthening public health and preventive medicine. The department is actively involved in MBBS, MD, nursing and paramedical teaching and training programs, fostering the development of skilled healthcare professionals.

Department has been nominated as the nodal center for all tobacco related activity in Uttar Pradesh. It also runs a OPD in hospital premises along with a Tobacco Cessation Clinic (TCC) which specifically focuses on treatment and prevention on the use of tobacco. It operates health centres at Urban (CUHA) and rural (CRHA) area, thus playing a crucial role in providing health care to the community.

Additionally, the department collaborates with national health programs, conducting tobacco related and other research and implementing innovative healthcare models. It is deeply engaged in high quality workshops and training sessions on research methodology, qualitative research, systematic reviews and meta-analyses, and various national health programs. Furthermore, the department plays a significant role in epidemiological research, health promotion, and policymaking initiatives aimed at enhancing community health outcomes
